National Crime Victims' Rights Week

In 1981, President Ronald Wilson Reagan proclaimed the first Victims' Rights Week, calling for "a renewed emphasis on, and an enhanced sensitivity to, the rights of victims." Every April since then, communities throughout the Nation have held public rallies, candlelight vigils, and a host of commemorative activities to promote awareness of victims' rights and needs.

The 2013 National Crime Victims' Rights Week (NCVRW) is scheduled for April 21-27, 2013. As a prelude to NCVRW, the Office for Victims of Crime (OVC) will host an awards ceremony to honor individuals and programs for their outstanding efforts on behalf of crime victims. The public and the press are also invited to participate in the awards ceremony, which will take place in Washington, D.C.

Please check OVC's Web site for the most current information about 2013 NCVRW events at www.ovc.gov/ncvrw.

ELIGIBILITY GUIDELINES

1. You may nominate one or more worthy candidates, including individuals, programs, organizations, and teams. You must submit a separate form for each nominee. You may not nominate the same individuals, programs, organizations, teams, or coalition of individuals and programs for more than one award category.
2. Nominees can be federal, state, local, or tribal professionals, and volunteers in direct victim services and allied professions.
3. Previous award recipients, regardless of award category, are not eligible for subsequent awards.
4. Elected officials are not eligible for consideration.
5. Candidates nominated, but not selected, in previous years are eligible for consideration.

NOMINATION SUBMISSION GUIDELINES

1. Each nomination form must be accompanied by a 100-word abstract and nomination letter. The abstract (100 words or less) should outline the nominee's accomplishments and your reason for nominating this individual, program, team, or organization. The abstract should describe why the person or persons you are nominating should receive this award, what they have accomplished that sets them apart from colleagues in their field, and how their accomplishments benefit the community. Also include details as to the significance of the support materials that you include in the nomination package.

If you, the nominator, are affiliated with an organization, your nomination letter should be submitted on official stationery with your signature and position or title. No anonymous nominations will be accepted.

2. Each form must include the nominee's full name, title, organization affiliation, address, telephone number, and e-mail address. If you are nominating an organization, program, team, or group, please have all of the people who would attend the ceremony to accept an award provide the following required information: name, title, contact information, and e-mail. If your nomination is selected for consideration, a member of the OVC staff will contact the nominated individual, group members, and accompanying officials for their date of birth and Social Security number, which will be used by the U.S. Department of Justice to conduct a background check. Individuals who are not affiliated with a nominated team but are a part of the nominated organization (e.g., executive directors, managers) will only be allowed on stage if they have received and passed a background check.
3. If you are nominating a group of individuals who work on a specific project, please submit one nomination letter for the group of individuals with a SEPARATE nomination form for EACH individual in that group. All required information is listed above and must accompany the submission. Please note that only one plaque will be presented per group, team, or organization. Therefore, it is important to indicate the same plaque name consistently on each nomination form provided for a group of individuals. If the nominee is an individual, please indicate in the space provided whether another name (e.g., a nickname) needs to appear on the award plaque if the nominee is selected.

4. Your nomination letter should not exceed two single-spaced, single-sided, letter-size (8.5" x 11") pages, and should be typed using a standard 12-point font. This letter should address the questions listed under the specific award for which you are submitting a nomination (see the Nomination Letters section of this nomination form), and should reflect as much as you know about your nominee's accomplishments and services in supporting crime victims.
5. Please review the award categories carefully and select the category that most accurately reflects your nominee's accomplishments and services in supporting crime victims. An individual, program, team, or organization may not be nominated for more than one award category. OVC has the final decision regarding which category the nominee will be evaluated under.
6. Please provide any additional information about the nominated individual or program that should be considered in the review process. Supporting documentation, such as newspaper articles or résumés, can be attached if it is relevant to the nominee's contributions. Please note: Videos, bound publications, and notebooks should not be submitted. Also, supporting documentation will not be accepted after the nomination deadline.
7. The entire nomination package, including supplemental information and letters of support, may not exceed 10 single-spaced, single-sided, letter-size pages. Nominations exceeding this limit will not be considered.
8. If you are submitting your nomination in print form, please provide an original and two copies of the entire nomination package.

Submit the complete nomination package online at www.ovc.gov/ncvrwnominations, where you may also view a sample abstract and nomination.

Terms of Award

If this nomination is chosen for consideration—

- the Office for Victims of Crime, a component of the Office of Justice Programs, U.S. Department of Justice, is authorized to contact the nominee for his or her date of birth and Social Security number to initiate a background check. To participate on stage in the awards ceremony, individual award recipients, members of a group award recipient, and accompanying officials must provide the same information for a background check upon request.

If chosen for an award, the nominee agrees to—

- participate in all National Crime Victims' Service Awards Ceremony events taking place in Washington, D.C. Award recipients' travel expenses will be reimbursed within Federal Government guidelines. For group nominations, expenses will be reimbursed for a maximum of two nominees.
- the general use by the media and posting to Federal Government component Web sites of their photographic portraits or pictures, digital images, videotapes, other media material, and sound recordings. The media will be invited to participate in all events associated with National Crime Victims' Rights Week.
- the public dissemination of their biographical information, including award-related personal and/or professional stories.

☐ I acknowledge that I read and understood the above Terms of Award.

About the Office for Victims of Crime

OVC was formally established by a 1988 amendment to the Victims of Crime Act of 1984 to support services for crime victims and training and technical assistance to the field, and to provide leadership in changing attitudes, policies, and practices in ways that promote justice and healing for all victims of crime. OVC is charged by Congress with administering the Crime Victims Fund, a major source of funding for thousands of victim service programs throughout the Nation. Although the specific type of victim assistance varies by need and location, the goal of OVC is to reach out with a compassionate, skilled, and effective response to all victims who have suffered physical, sexual, emotional, and financial harm as a result of crime. For more information about OVC, visit the OVC Web site at www.ovc.gov.

About the Office of Justice Programs

The Office of Justice Programs (OJP) provides federal leadership in developing the Nation's capacity to prevent and control crime, administer justice, and assist victims. OJP has six components: the Bureau of Justice Assistance; the Bureau of Justice Statistics; the National Institute of Justice; the Office of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention; the Office for Victims of Crime, and the Office of Sex Offender Sentencing, Monitoring, Apprehending, Registering, and Tracking. More information about OJP can be found at www.ojp.gov.
